BAPTISTS WIN FROM MINE MACHINE MEN

Interesting Ball Game Played on East Side Grounds Yesterday.

Palatine Baptist won from the Mining Machine Company team in a well played six-inning contest on the East Park diamond last night by a score of 6-2. The machinists started well and plugged in one run in the first inning but the Baptists began walking into Mills in the fourth frame and got four hits which so took the starch out of the twirler that he walked two, and from these and two errors the Baptists gleaned six runs.

A game will be played tonight between the Palatine Baptists and the Monongah Glass team and tomorrow night the latter term will clash with the Diamond street M. E. team. The score:

BASEBALL PLAYERS? LOOK AT CLOTHES AND THEN GUESS

By PAUL PURMAN.

"Ballplayers?—now, no self-respecting ball player would masquerade in a leopard skin and go out trying to emulate Ruth St. Denis."

That's what an old-time ballplayer said when he lamped the accompanying picture and was asked whether he thought they were ballplayers.

"But," he added, frowning, "that big guy's face looks familiar."

Sure it did.

"That big guy" is none other than Larry McLean, former first string catcher of the Giants and Reds, six feet six in leopard skin or bathing suit and a little longer in spikes and spangles.

The other is Walter Bennett, formerly a Pittsburgh Pirate.

Just now they are extras in a new Fox film in which Valeska Suratt is starring.

And if they ever get back on the diamond watch for "Curse you, Lord Byron," instead of the usual run of talk handed the umps.

PRESIDENT MAKES APPEAL TO WOMEN

Asks Them to Save All the Food They Possibly Can.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—A memorable appeal from President Wilson to the women of the Nation, whether living in city, town or country, was issued today through Secretary of Agriculture D. F. Houston to take immediate steps to avoid a threatened loss of vast amounts of perishable fruits and vegetables, especially in 24 states that have asked governmental assistance and information on the subject of "How Housewives May Immediately Start Canning, Preserving, Pickling, Drying and Storing."

The advance organization work has all been completed by a special committee working nationally under the direction of Secretary of Agriculture Houston and the most intensive campaign, especially in the 24 states in distress will be conducted during the next three weeks. The President's letter follows:

Washington, July 28, 1917.

Mr. Secretary and Gentlemen of the Committee: I very earnestly desire to commend your plans and to second your efforts to secure the conservation of surpluses of perishable food products. Out of the depths of their patriotism the farmers of the Nation gave an immediate and effective response to my appeal to increase production. Providence favored them and we have not only the prospect of increased crops of a number of staples but also the certainty of a large production of fruits and vegetables.

But increased production, important as it is, is only a part of the solution of the food problem. It is of the first importance that we take care of what has been raised and make it available for consumption.

This task is of peculiar urgency with reference to our perishable farm products. It is essential not only that adequate measures be taken to secure their conservation but also that the Department of Agriculture redouble its efforts to assist producers in the matter of marketing.

I am informed that in many sections in which fruits and vegetables have been produced in abundance the people already are canning and drying them in large quantities. But we should be content with nothing short of the perfection of organization and should be unwilling that anything should be lost. In this hour of peril, I am concerned, as I know you are, with the necessity of avoiding waste. Every bushel of potatoes properly stored, every pound of vegetables properly put by for future use, every jar of fruit preserved, add that much to our insurance of victory.

add that much to hasten the end of this conflict. To win we must have maximum efficiency in all directions. We can not win without complete and effective concentration of all our efforts.

We can all aid by increasing our consumption of perishable products. Such of them as we can efficiently utilize, we must utilize, and, by so doing, relieve the strain on our store of staples. We must aim to consume these things locally so far as possible and thus relieve the pressure on transportation agencies, freeing them for the more efficient handling of products required for military purposes. What we can not presently consume we must conserve.

The service we are asking the people to render in this matter is a public service. It is one primarily for the household. Upon the housewife much of the burden of the task will fall. I join you in your appeal to the women of the Nation, whether living in a city, town, or country, to devote their time, so far as it may be feasible and necessary, to the performance of this very essential work. Among them some will be found who are fitted by experience to teach others, and they will put their knowledge whole heartedly at the service of their neighbors.

I am sure that we may confidently count upon the co-operation of the editors of the Nation in disseminating the necessary information. I am equally certain that the Governors and the food committees appointed by them in the states in which this problem is urgent will leave nothing undone to attack it promptly and to assist in solving it.

Faithfully yours,

(Signed) WOODROW WILSON.

The National Volunteer committee on the Preserving of Fruit and Garden Products, called to Washington last week, of which A. D. Lasker of Lord and Thomas, Chicago, is chairman, is devoting its time to this intensive public service and includes John Callan O'Laughlin, a Washington, D. C., newspaper correspondent; C. J. Brand, Chief, Bureau of Markets; Dr. C. L. Alsberg, Chief, Bureau of Chemistry; Clarence Ousley, Assistant to the Secretary; W. M. Wilkes, Indianapolis, Indiana, (representing Van Camp Packing Co.); H. W. Phelps, New York City, (vice president American Canning Co.); G. Thomas, Washington, D. C. (B. F. Sturtevant Co.); F. E. Gorrell, Washington, D. C. (Secretary National Canners' Association); J. O. Ross, Boston, Mass.; (B. F. Sturtevant Co.); and F. C. Ball, Muncie, Indiana, (President Ball Glass Mfg. Co.).

The 24 states which have grown large crops of perishable fruits and vegetables, which it is necessary to conserve in order to avoid wasting vast quantities of these foodstuffs, are: Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Tennessee, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Washington.

Two points made by President Wilson in his letter are particularly important:

"Every bushel of potatoes properly stored, every pound of vegetables properly put by for future use, every jar of fruit preserved, add that much to our insurance of victory, add that much to hasten the end of this conflict. To win we must have maximum efficiency in all directions. We can not win without complete and effective concentration of all our efforts."

these things locally so far as possible and thus relieve the pressure and transportation agencies freeing them from the more efficient handling of products required for military purposes. What we can not presently consume we must conserve.

The particular vegetables that have been raised in home yard gardens in cities and rural communities, as well as by farmers, and which are threatening vast waste from their abundance are: Tomatoes, beets, potatoes, beans, cabbage, onions, sugar corn, peas, carrots. The fruits are: Peaches, pears, apples and in some of the states blackberries.

The resources of the Government with the volunteer help of neighbors to each other, schools, clubs, governors and the press, will be put behind this intensive effort for three weeks, and longer in certain states where required. In the simplest detail the housewife and "Mother-and-Daughter Clubs" everywhere will be told how they may render this most patriotic service in their homes. They are to be asked first to put by food for their own consumption, and second, to devise the best methods of marketing their surplus products locally.

Owing to the shortage in the supply of tin containers, most of the preserving and canning will have to be done in glass jars, of which 900,000 gross, of the Mason jar type, have been distributed through the manufacturers for the present season's needs. The total manufacturing capacity of
